MAC Leadership

MAC honors Executive Director Dorothy Chandler for 20 Years of Service

Members of the Board of Directors of Midtown Assistance Center (MAC) recently recognized and honored Dorothy Chandler for her 20 years of leadership with the organization. Ms. Chandler joined MAC as Assistant Director in 1994, and she stepped into the Director's position in 1997. She now serves as Executive Director. The MAC Board of Directors held an anniversary celebration at the home of Tom and Charlotte Shields. Board President, Bernadette Kennedy, presented Ms. Chandler with a clock to commemorate the occasion.

How You Can Help

Amazon Smile

Shop online AND donate to MAC! When you visit smile.amazon.com to shop, Amazon will donate a portion of your purchase to MAC.

Kroger Rewards

If you shop at Kroger, giving to MAC is easy! Simply link your Kroger Plus Card to MAC at kroger.com/community rewards. MAC's organizational number is 80102. Best part is, this does not affect your gas points.

5 Reasons to give to MAC

1 MAC provides a safety net for hard working people who have nowhere to turn in times of crisis.

2 MAC operates efficiently in donated space with a small, well-trained staff and many community volunteers.

3 100% of MAC's funds go directly to assisting people in need.

4 Every cent counts! Your donation will have an impact.

5 93% of those assisted with rent remain housed for at least six months following assistance from MAC.

Who are the Working Poor?

Executive Director, Dorothy Chandler, sheds light on the lives of MAC's clients.

What strikes me about the people we refer to as the “working poor” is that they are everywhere. They are doing important jobs and providing valuable services for the community. The designation is more about the types of jobs they have than the type of people they are. Their jobs are some of the most difficult. They work in security, healthcare, eldercare, daycare, hospitality, and the list goes on. Although the type of work varies greatly, there are many common denominators:

- They earn an hourly wage.
- Their hours vary from day to day, making it difficult to work second jobs.
- Their jobs are typically part time, and they are not guaranteed hours.
- They generally earn more than the minimum wage.
- They can be sent home if business is slow.
- They do not have paid vacation, sick leave or health insurance.
- Their jobs are temporary, meaning that they can be replaced at any time.
- They rely on public transportation, making it difficult to work at jobs where promptness and perfect attendance are critical. They can only work jobs during hours when public transportation is operating.
- They are, above all, optimistic, resilient and grateful for MAC.

LITTLE THINGS HAVE A BIG IMPACT!

In the waiting room at MAC, people are busy filling out forms and selecting items that they would like from a lengthy grocery list.

Over the years, we noticed a growing number of people holding paperwork close to their faces or asking for help filling it out. This happened because clients could not see well enough to do it themselves. What a problem! Fortunately, the solution was simple. We decided to purchase reading glasses and distribute them to those who needed them. The glasses have made an incredible difference to over 300 MAC clients so far who have left our office being able to read the fine print.

Over 300 people received reading glasses this year

“To have so much respect given to me when I’m feeling at my lowest is better than anything.”

Making a Difference at MAC

Dear MAC and Contributors,

My name is Milton. On May 20, 2015, I was a victim of a random shooting in downtown Atlanta where I was shot five times. I was hospitalized at Grady Memorial Hospital for a period of two weeks and at the Shepard Center for one week I had a significant spinal cord injury that rendered me unable to return to work. Prior to my injury, I was employed at Norfolk Southern as an Operations Service and Support Specialist. Unfortunately, due my brief tenure with the company, I was ineligible to be paid during my medical leave. After depleting all of my savings, I was unable to pay my recurring living expenses. I received an eviction notice for non-payment of my rent and disconnect notices for my utilities. This was a very depressing and turbulent time, given my previous history of financial independence. After receiving a phone call from a close friend, I was referred to the Midtown Assistance Center. During my initial contact, MAC expressed a genuine concern for my mental well being as well as my physical recovery. They offered several words of encouragement. Due to the nature of my hardship, MAC was also able to provide me with a substantial amount of financial assistance during a period when funds were very limited. It is with a deep sense of gratitude that I write to thank The Midtown Assistance Center and its contributors for their charitable and generous aid to people like me during our times of need. Words do not seem adequate to say how much I appreciate your support. Know that I am grateful for all that you have done.

Sincerely, Milton

“MAC helped me put food on the table for my family when my hours were cut temporarily at work. Thanks to them, I am not homeless.”
-Jayson

MAC Volunteer Recognized by the Midtown Atlanta Rotary Club

This year, MAC nominated Jonathan Huddleston for the Atlanta Rotary Club's Annual Barbara Rose Award for Community Service. This award was presented at a luncheon held in May at the Ansley Golf Club. Jon is a legal assistant for a firm in Marietta, and he took time to volunteer at the Midtown Assistance Center while studying for the bar exam. Jon is always ready and willing to help wherever needed, even at a moment's notice. He has taken on many duties at MAC, including screening clients for eligibility, organizing the food pantry, and enhancing MAC's website.

"I started volunteering at Midtown Assistance a little over a year ago. I knew very little about MAC and thought I would complete the hours I needed and that would be it. One year later I can honestly say that I still thoroughly enjoy my volunteer experience. I receive much more than I could have imagined. I became part of the MAC family and work with people I love. I support all that this organization stands for and could not think of a better place to volunteer my time. Midtown Assistance gives people a second chance to make their lives better. This chance to restart their lives is immeasurable. Clients leave the assistance program and learn to move forward. We all actually can use this philosophy in our own lives when, at times, we need to reevaluate our own paths. I am glad and proud that I have MAC in my life."

Volunteer Spotlight: Sara Hene

Volunteers, from college students to retirees, are the daily life blood of the Midtown Assistance Center.

Loyal and gifted, they serve with commitment, determined to do their best. Sara Hene is but one example. Greeted by a chorus of hellos, Sara commands attention as she arrives in the MAC office and quickly asks, "What have you got for me today?" In 10 years at MAC, she has interviewed over a thousand needy individuals and is known for her discernment and compassion.

Through the mandated screening process, Sara's precise questions and accurate interpretations have helped MAC identify and serve clients. Connecting with clients, Sara delivers straight talk and dispenses practical advice, but she makes it palatable with the use of her quick wit and wry humor. Her no nonsense style often masks a deep compassion for people. "This woman is up the creek and she is doing the best she can," said Sara recently through a rare display of misty eyes. "Can we pay her utility bill and give her some food?" Absolutely, Ms. Sara.

Who do you Want to Become?

Beginning my year with Jesuit Volunteer Corps

By Emily Cinquemani, Jesuit Volunteer

Jesuit Volunteer Corps' mission to foster personal growth and create lifelong servant leaders drew me to join JVC and to become a part of Midtown Assistance Center. I would like to explain my decision to participate in this year of service as a choice between two central questions we discussed at our beginning retreat: What do you want to become? Who do you want to become? While many people have asked me this first question throughout my life and college career, the second felt neglected yet far more important. Thus, I began my year with JVC hoping to learn more about social justice, to grow in my ability to serve others, and to gain a deeper understanding of the person I want to become. JVC guides its members on their

"Jesuit Volunteer Corps is an opportunity to commit to the dignity and well-being of others. JVC is a springboard to a future of personal transformation in the fight for social justice."

-Andy Greenia, JVC Program Coordinator

journey through its four values: social justice, simple living, spirituality, and community. Not only do I have the opportunity to serve the working poor at MAC, but I also live with a community of other Jesuit Volunteers serving in Atlanta. We all earn a small stipend to live in greater solidarity with those facing injustice and have the opportunity to grow in our spiritual practices together. My discussions with my community, my new neighborhood, my rides on MARTA, and the Jesuit emphasis on becoming a person "for and with others," have complimented my work at MAC immensely. I have learned a lot about the experiences and challenges of the marginalized in this past month alone, and I look forward to being challenged, experiencing joy, and growing to become more fully myself throughout this coming year.

MAC Connects with Georgia State University Social Work Program

Forming community partnerships and establishing connections

MAC has been honored to work with students from Georgia State University while they pursue their Masters in Social Work. Students commit 16 hours a week of their time to Midtown Assistance Center. Students screen clients for eligibility, handle case management, assist with volunteer groups, and help coordinate the Christmas program. Earlier this year, Tramayne Willingham, an Oxford, Mississippi native, was at MAC for two semesters. Over the course of two semesters, Traymayne established rapport with MAC clients and approached each case she handled with sensitivity and care. Willingham holds her Bachelor's degree from Ole Miss and will graduate with her MSW in May of 2016. Sarina Marsh, from Tampa, Florida is currently at MAC. Sarina graduated from University of South Florida with a degree in psychology. Before attending GSU, she worked as a foster care case manager. "GSU is very fortunate to have the partnership with Midtown Assistance Center, as the myriad of opportunities provided at MAC reinforce social work practice," says Dr. Bernice Liddie-Hamilton, Director of Field Placement.

Cristo Rey Atlanta Jesuit High School is a Catholic learning community that educates young people of limited economic means to become men and women of faith, purpose, and service. Through a rigorous college preparatory curriculum, that includes work study experience, students graduate ready to succeed in college and in life. Cristo Rey Atlanta is in its second year of operation and currently has 9th and 10th grades.

Discovering and Filling Unmet Needs

Thanks to special funding from the following foundations, MAC was able to help many retired and/or disabled individuals who were struggling to make ends meet.

Mary Allen Lindsey Branan Foundation provided funding so that MAC could help individuals with a disabilities who were in danger of losing their utility service or being evicted from their apartments. MAC was able to pay 36 rent and utility bills with this funding.

The St. Luke's Episcopal Church Smith-Hawkins Fund provided funding for people with serious health problems that kept them from working. It allowed MAC to assist with more than one month's rent, to provide grocery store gift cards to purchase special items and medications and to provide MARTA passes for medical appointments.

The Community Foundation of Greater Atlanta Extra Wish Grant enabled MAC to purchase and distribute shopping carts to our clients who have to walk long distances with the groceries we provide. It also funded grocery store gift cards for those who needed to purchase special foods or medication.

The Westminster Schools

Each December, we look forward to participating in The Westminster Schools Annual Alternative Gift Fair. The Giving Fair is an opportunity to highlight the work of local nonprofits during this holiday season. "It is such a privilege for us to host so many of our community partners at the Fair. It is a wonderful way to help raise awareness and funds for these incredible organizations that are making such a difference in our community," says Stan Moor,

Director of Community Service, Westminster Schools. MAC joined several local nonprofits in the selling of fair trade gifts ranging from birdfeeders to Haitian vanilla. In exchange for a donation, donors receive a door snakes(draft blockers). The door snakes are used at the base of one's door to block the heat from escaping and the cold air from entering one's home. Needless to say, these slithery snakes were a hit among Westminster youth! MAC is thankful to The Westminster Schools for the opportunity to share MAC's story with their community.

For more information about door snakes, contact the MAC office!

Words from MAC' Clients

"I truly appreciate everyone at MAC who gave me the groceries. Life has its ups and downs and I will bounce back. Thank you for being there for me." -Sam

"Thank you so much for adopting my family for Christmas. We enjoyed every gift you gave my three sons and daughter. I was in tears." -Jamie

"A lot of people in places just work for a pay check, but Midtown really cares. I can tell by the glow in their faces." -Jerome

"MAC has helped immensely. Thank you for all that you do!" -Erika

Westside Momentum

Note: 49% of MAC's financial assistance goes to residents of the Westside.

Midtown Assistance Center was selected to participate in the Georgia Center for Nonprofit's Westside Momentum. As part of a Community Group of 46 organizations with an active presence in the Westside neighborhoods, MAC staff and board members will receive training in organizational management, leadership and governance.

"Working with GCN on the Westside Momentum project has been an eye opening experience. It has been a great opportunity to network and collaborate with other agencies that are trying to do good in the Vine City/English Avenue community." Rebecca Richard, Director of Partnerships.

RABOBANK

MAC is proud to have been selected as the community partner of Rabobank. Rabobank is a Dutch banking and financial services company that specializes in food and agri financing and sustainability-oriented banking. Last Christmas, Rabobank sponsored a family with special needs during the Christmas season. They have also served as a Gold sponsor of the Midtown Race for MAC, and hosted food and clothing drives. In addition to this, Rabobank employees volunteer monthly in the food pantry.

Society of St. Vincent de Paul Partners with MAC

Since its inception, MAC has partnered with The Basilica of the Sacred Heart of Jesus' Society of St. Vincent de Paul (SVdP) to assist countless individuals and families. When a client owes more than one month's rent, MAC and SVdP work together to share the expenses and prevent their evictions.

A Catholic lay organization, SVdP leads volunteers to grow spiritually as they offer person-to-person service to the needy and economically distressed in the tradition of its founder, Blessed Frédéric Ozanam, and its patron, St. Vincent de Paul. "Our ministry's effectiveness is exponentially multiplied when we partner with Midtown Assistance Center," said Jack Stenger, President, Sacred Heart Conference, St. Vincent de Paul Society. "We are kindred organizations – in philosophy, in mission, in service." In addition to collaborating on financial cases, Sacred Heart's SVdP chapter organizes two food drives each year (summer and holiday seasons.) In 2015, SVdP made a generous financial gift to MAC. "MAC's staff is grateful for this collaboration and the opportunity to work together and make a big difference in the lives of local families," said Jenny Jobson, Associate Director of MAC.

"We are kindred organizations; in philosophy, in mission, in service."

Consolidated Planning Corporation honored at MAC Annual Dinner

MAC's annual Appreciation and Celebration Dinner honored Consolidated Planning Corporation (CPC) as MAC's Corporate Partner of the Year. Bob Bordett and Betsy Silber accepted the award on behalf of the corporation. As a long time champion for MAC, CPC has hosted volunteer work days, purchased gifts for Christmas Families, and sponsored the Midtown Race for MAC. Consolidated Planning Corporation is a wealth management firm that plans, designs and implements investment strategies. CPC knows there is no greater investment they can make, than to give their time and talent back to the community. They support the community in which we live and the causes that help enhance our lives and the lives of others. "Partnering with MAC just made sense for us at Consolidated Planning. There are few non-profits that do so much with so little. We've been located in Midtown Atlanta for four decades, so an organization like MAC, which helps the working poor of Midtown Atlanta to avoid homelessness and despair in times of crisis, was truly a perfect fit. We were touched and honored to receive this award and plan to continue our joint venture for a long, long time." says Betsy Silber of CPC. Congratulations to CPC on their 40th business anniversary.
